

AN EXCERPT FROM CASUAL GENOCIDE

'THE UPCOMING BIOGRAPHY OF COURTNEY CHRONISTER

The young age of five was when Courtney was introduced to her first love Orange Chicken. I personally interviewed the owner of the Lucky Garden, the unfortunate restaurant where she first ate orange chicken.

“I have never in my thirty years of owning this restaurant, seen anything as disgusting as that day,” said Ming Li owner of the Lucky Garden. According to Ming Li it was noon on a Thursday when Courtney and her mother Cindy graced the Lucky Garden with their presence.

Courtney being a newcomer to the restaurant was recommended the orange chicken, and the world has never been the same again. Ming Li claims that the kitchen staff made seventeen orders of orange chicken that day. Things were so intense in the kitchen that half the staff quit. The restaurant later burned down under suspicious circumstances, arson was not ruled out of the possibilities.
